Susan,
To the only girl that is really cool, I'll always remember your party,
Stay as sweet and Cool as you are.
RMA
Butch.

Sue,
To one of the people who made this year a riot. Always remember $K = 1y + 2x$ - and all those chemistry classes that were basically fun. And then there's lunch - clique for food - it was a hard choice. Last, but certainly not least remember Rand and J.P. Mroz. Not too much 'cause it's read!) Best of Luck! said (just in case it's your ever lovin' friend, Lynn (Lynnus) P.S. Never forget the great snowball battle we had.

S.S. SUZIE,
WELL WHAT CAN I SAY? I THINK WE'VE SAID IT ALL BEFORE. YOU'RE WITHOUT A DOUBT, THE BRIGHTEST GIRL I'VE EVER MET.. DON'T EVER FORGET THE "GREAT" TIMES WE HAD IN CHEM. CLASS — (THAT'S THE ONLY ONE WE HAD TOGETHER, IN CASE YOU FORGOT) REMEMBER SOME OF THE STUNTS WE PULLED AFTER 6TH PERIOD AND AT LUNCH. I DON'T WANT TO MAKE ANY COMMENTS ABOUT FRANNY — I'M COMPLETELY DISGUSTED ABOUT THAT. REMEMBER ALL THE FUN WE HAD ON OUR FIELD TRIP WHERE WE WERE "INSIDE" ONLY THE SON WAS SHINING & OUR LITTLE SNOWBALL BATTLE WHICH RESULTED IN SEVERAL CRUDE CARICATURES OF OUR "LOVED TEACHERS". THERE'S NOT TO MUCH I CAN SAY ABOUT THIS YEAR, EXCEPT THAT WE HAD A GREAT TIME. DON'T EVER CHANGE YOUR PERSONALITY IN THE SLIGHTEST BECAUSE IT'S THE GREATEST. JUST REMEMBER WHAT BILLY GRAHAM SAID THE OTHER NIGHT ABOUT TAKING A BIBLE ON DATES & YOU'LL GO FAR! HA-HA-HA - GOOD LUCK IN EVERYTHING YOU DO & DON'T WORK SO HARD LOVE YOU ALWAYS — JOE

FOREWORD . . .

A POPULAR SONG of our senior year begins its refrain with "This door swings both ways . . ." Our senior class is representative of this idea; we leave behind us a world of growing up — of homecoming floats, term papers, and prom pictures — and we take with us hopes of success in the new and challenging world of adulthood. In the following pages we have tried to recapture some of the memorable events of our high school years; events which we will take with us through the door to maturity.

Band Camp again proved to be a time of hard work and pleasure. Beginning two weeks before school, the cheerleaders, band, and majorettes worked out routines, drills, and cheers. With the help of various sponsors, band camp proved to be worthwhile in helping the students prepare for the oncoming year.

"We're going to play what for the opening game?"

Sandy and Lyle try hard to get everyone in step.

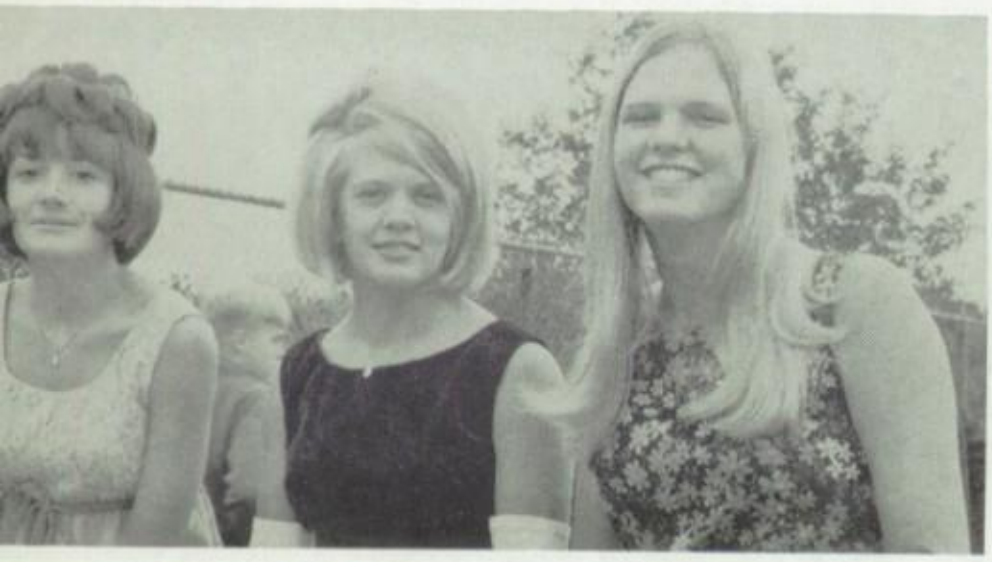
Paul Long and Mr. Mroz discuss the new plans for the Band.

The Long Hot Summer Ended In A Hot Band Camp For Some Sharlerites

"Get tough," scream the weary cheerleaders as they practice on a hot summer afternoon.

Originality Highlights The Homecoming Parade

"California Here We Come"



Art Club painted a pretty picture with its Queen Karen Krotzer and attendants Barbara Clack and Susan Koch.

As she accepted her bouquet, Beth Starr smiled radiantly.

"Sweets to the sweet."

Westward Ho!

"It's an invasion!"

Former Homecoming Queen Pauline Brown presented roses to Commercial Club Queen Sharon Kammer with escort Jim Pfeiffer.

Amid The Splendor of Colored Floats,

"Impossible," was the cry that arose from the student body when it was announced that Shaler's 1966 Homecoming would be held on October 1. Just two weeks remained for the construction of floats. The shock soon wore off, however, and the results were ten impressive floats adhering to the theme of "Eras In American History." Of the ten floats presented, the following four were chosen as finalists: The Band, depicting "The Boston Tea Party" with Queen Jane Szymanski; the Senior Class and the "First Locomotive" with its Queen Beth Starr; the Commercial Club's "Space Age" with Queen Sharon Kammer; and the Art Club's model of the Wright Brothers' "Spirit of St. Louis" with its Queen Karen Krotzer. As Queen of the first place Band float, Jane Szymanski was crowned Homecoming Queen for 1966. The creativity of the floats helped to lighten the only unhappy note of the day — the game score. The Tigers of North Allegheny defeated the Huskies 29 to 7.

Although the Band float may not have been seaworthy, it was good enough to take first place.

Jane Szymamski Becomes 1966 Homecoming Queen

Chug chug steamed the Senior Class float as it screeched into second place.

The thrill of being the 1966 Homecoming Queen was shown by the smile of Jane Szymanski, who was attended by Denise Polecritti and Gail Maranoski.

"'Twas the night before Homecoming and all through the garage . . ."

"Evening in Paris" Provides Romantic Atmosphere for the Junior-Senior

The Prom Court consists of: Stephanie Eichley, Mary Ann Willman, Collen Miller, Eileen Bulger, Pat Malley, Michelle Gross, Cora Tyson, Kathy Allen, and Carol Wartz.

The crowd is awaiting the announcement that will reveal the name of the new prom queen.

After her crowning, Jane Roch joins her escort to lead off a dance to the theme of "Evening in Paris."

Juniors and Seniors enjoy dancing to the music of Bill LeRoy's dance band.

Prom at Pittsburgh's Hilton Hotel

A model of the Eiffel Tower is visible as the crowd dances amid an air of Parisian romanticism.

"Air raid! Take cover — air raid!"

"Tally ho and away we go."

"Stop biting my finger, Geoff, and let me finish putting this lipstick on you," says Sharon.

As Juniors, The Class Of '67 Transported The Audience To Grand Fenwick

You think you've got problems? Look at Grand Fenwick! There it is, a tiny country located somewhere in the netherworld of central Europe, with its one profitable export, a world-famous wine called Pinot Grand Fenwick, jeopardized by dangerous American competition. The fearless Fenwickians, however, are undaunted; led by Tully Bascom, the outrageously courageous forest ranger, they attack the United States armed with bows and arrows and a hilarious measure of naivete. The United States is caught by surprise right in the middle of a national air-raid. As a result, the Fenwickians are victorious; they return to their homeland bearing an all-powerful secret weapon instead of reconstruction benefits that Queen Gloriana and her two political leaders had planned on. The story climaxes with a heart-warming, hand-clapping scene in which Tully Bascom, played by Paul Palmer, and Gloriana, portrayed by Sharon Kapphan, unite the world under the subtly prevailing influence of their peace weapon.

"May I have this dance?"

"So you conquered the United States?
What else is new?"

with "The Mouse That Roared"

"Did one of you lose this?" Geoff returns a bright red safety pocket to ungrateful Sue and Pam.

Seniors worked hard this year to meet the deadline for the play "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay!" Joe Croyle, our leading man, broke his collar bone at the beginning of rehearsals. The costume committee left the getting of costumes up to the members of the cast, which caused problems, because rehearsals were held until 4:30 or 5:30 then began again at 7:30 p.m. Weathering all these difficulties, the cast kept on and although Mrs. Dougherty may have despaired at times, the show did go on.

Christmas At Shaler Means Racing To Complete

To get into the Christmas spirit, Shaler High School provided a variety of contests and assemblies. First was the door decoration contest, the homerooms competed for an oil painting. Second was the Christmas Assembly. For this program, the Sophomore, Treble, and Chapel Choirs performed, assisted by both the Shalerettes and the Crescendos.

The 12-1's took first prize in Student Council's door decoration contest.

Door Decorations And Rehearsing Christmas Carols For The Concert

Chapel Choir presented a varied program of songs in the assembly.

The choir's processional to "O Come All Ye Faithful" started the Christmas Chapel program.

Peanut Heaven entertains the student body and dreams its way into first place in the variety division.

The Wellingtons please the audience with their version of "Midnight Hour."

The Alley Cats slink onto stage for their number in the Talent Show.

Again, the Shaler High students received an opportunity to display their many talents. A new type of talent show was presented to the students. This year, there were only two categories with the acts divided accordingly. Most of the students felt that Student Council produced another worthwhile activity that helped make the year more satisfying and enjoyable.

Wellingtons and Peanut Heaven Capture First Prizes In The Talent Show

Last year's winners, Sue Koch and Karen Koelsch, compete again for top prizes.

In nineteen hundred and sixty-six,

Shaler students, guys and chicks,

Once more entered this hallowed hall,

Eager and curious one and all.

The sophomores surpassed their highest goal

With all the magazines they sold.

The Juniors awaited their prom with joy

While the rings arrived for each girl and boy.

The Seniors looked forward to graduation

With trembling, fear, and trepidation.

All in all this year's been great;

Now we leave the rest
to fate.

CLASSES

Officers Work To Make Year Successful

All senior events such as the prom were organized by the Senior Executive Committee, whose members were: Front Row: Beebe, Palmer, MacCosbe; Row 2: Domyslawski, Thomas, Holley, Long; Row 3: Sutter, Werle, Simakas, Santalucia, Szymanski, Gordon; Row 4: Bashaw, Corbett.

Jim Bashaw, the Senior Class President, led the Seniors through their last year with much support from his classmates.

The Senior officers, all of whom worked and served diligently throughout the 1966-67 school year, were Jim Bashaw, President; Jane Szymanski, Secretary; Sam Sutter, Vice President; Bruce Stewart, Treasurer.

1967 Class History

Ring! The Shaler class of 1967 started its year alarmingly. Included among the celebrations of Senior Day was the simultaneous blare of several dozen alarm clocks concealed in the lockers of the seniors. This day, besides marking the last home football game, helped the entire Senior class to recall the years they had spent as Shaler High School students. Several annual events, such as class plays, Homecoming, and Christmas door decorations, had formed the basis for a variety of class activities. The three floats, "Beany and Cecil," "St. Patrick's Day," and a colorful train, "The Industrial Revolution," represented the 1967 class at Homecomings. As Juniors and Seniors, the class produced "The Mouse That Roared" and "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," respectively. The class had two opportunities to try out their salesmanship during their three years at Shaler High School; the first, during the sophomore year, was a magazine drive which netted $600 and the second, the final Senior effort, was the yearbook fund benefit which brought $3,600 for the 1967 yearbook. The climax of the class' Junior year was the prom at the Royal Ridge Field Club, which employed the theme "Rhapsody in Blue." These high points of our years at Shaler were brought to mind by the observance of Senior Day. Bang! Don't be alarmed — it's only the 1967 class leaving Shaler High School.

CHARLES EDICK

It was the last weekend before school started. In those last few remaining days we all tried to accomplish what we hadn't done earlier in the summer. A swimming picnic abruptly ended in tragedy when Chuck Edick suffered stomach cramps and drowned.

Chuck was a stranger to no one at Shaler. As a student, he had planned to further his education and go on to a naval career. The class of '67 felt deeply the loss of one of their classmates.

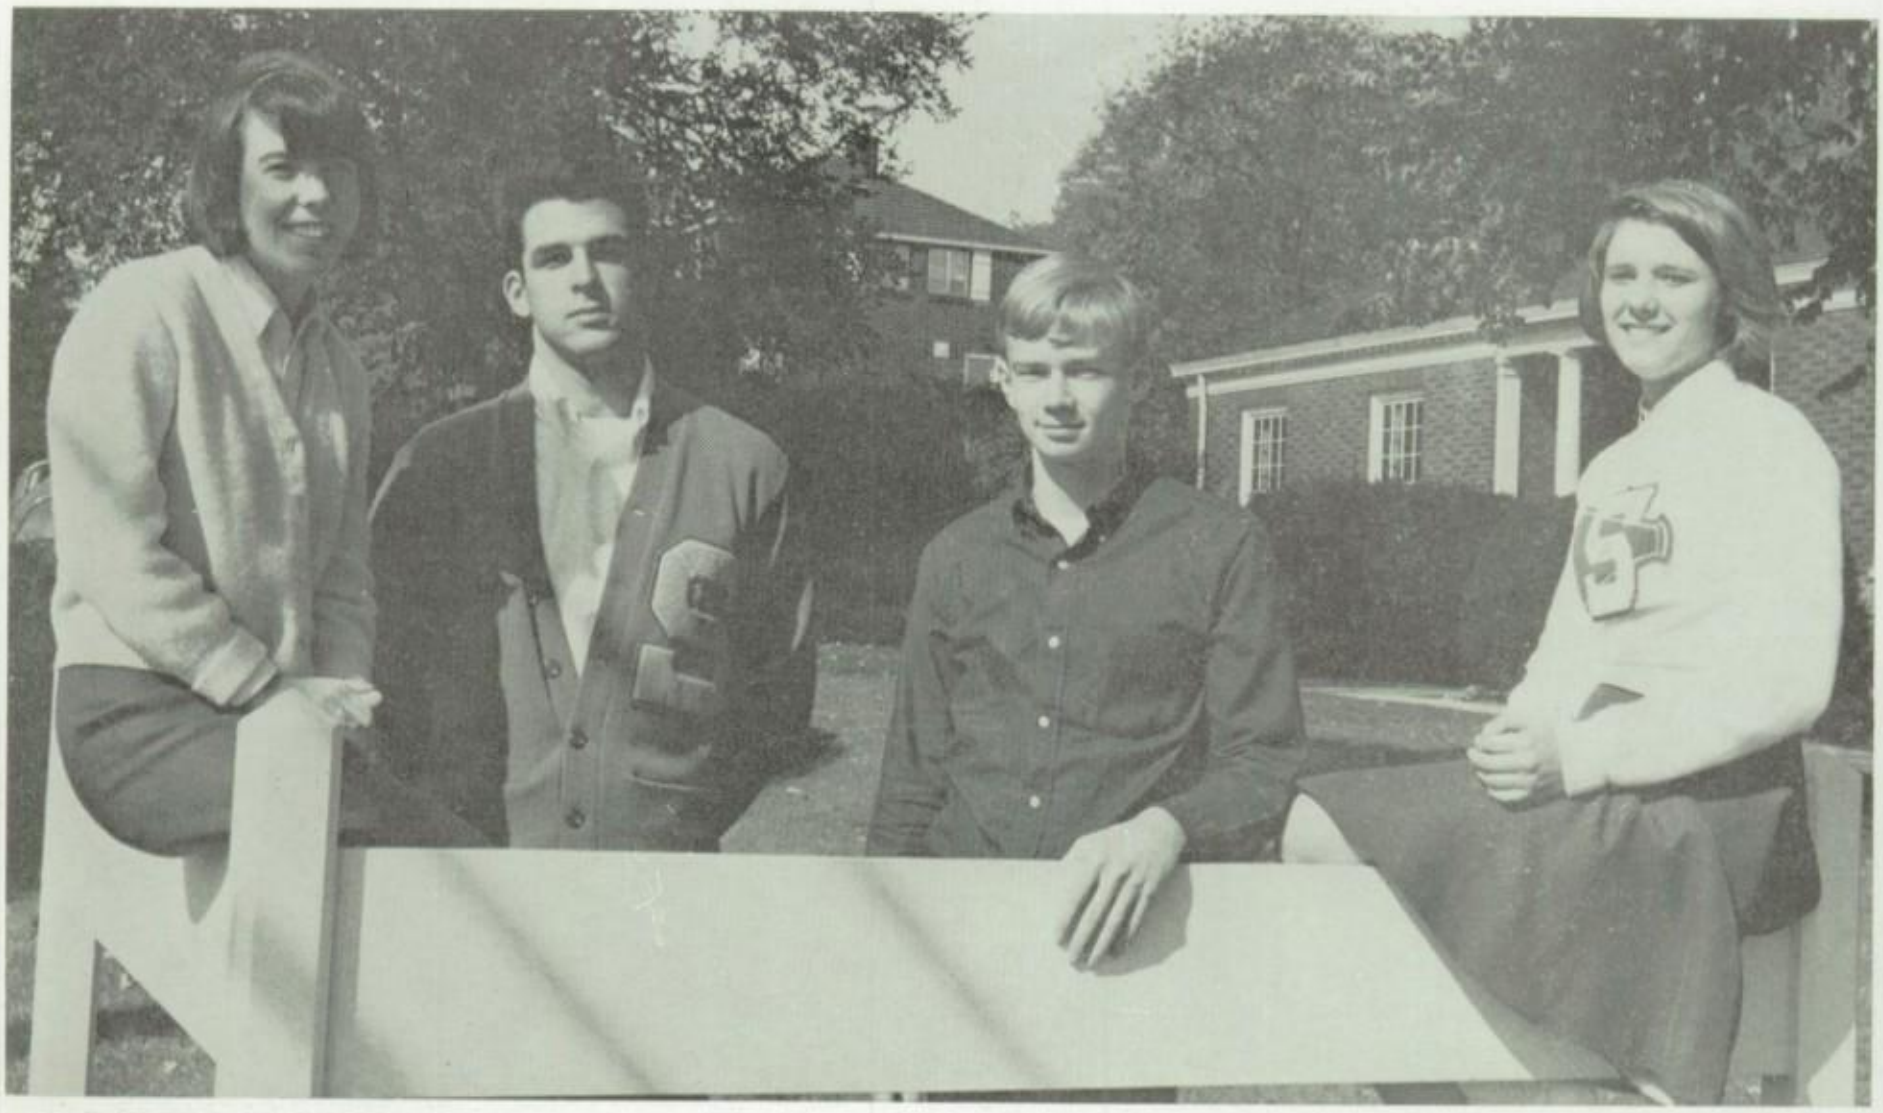
Junior Class Spends an Enjoyable "Evening in Paris" in "Our Town"



The Junior Class offices were filled by Mary Ann Willman, Secretary; Tom Tano, President; Dale Russell, Vice-President; and Judy Verbanets, Treasurer.

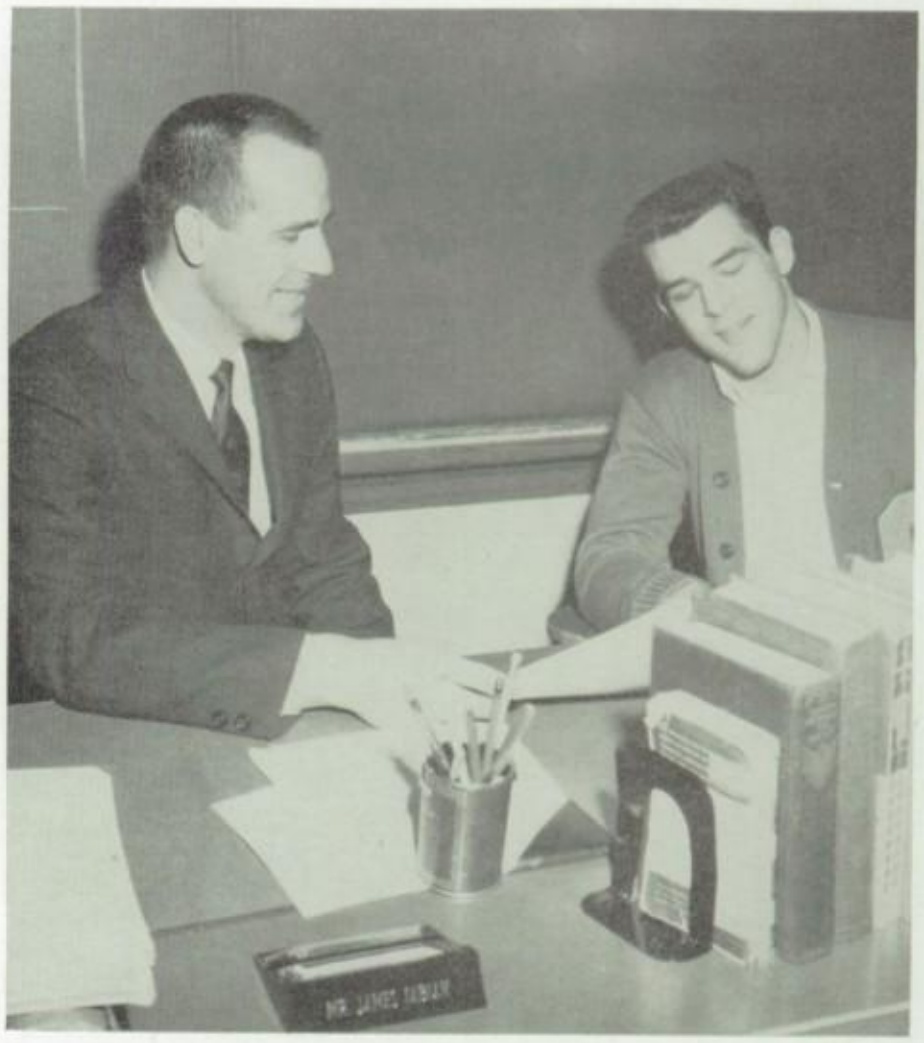
The Class of '68 kept busy during the year of '67 with successfully planned activities. They were led by their class president Tom Tano, vice-president Dale Russell, secretary Mary Ann Willman, and treasurer Judy Verbantes. Mr. James Fabian was the class sponsor.

Homecoming inspired the Juniors to produce a float entitled "The Gay 90's." Stephanie Eichleay was queen, and attendants were Mary Ann Willman and Pat Malley.

The Junior Prom carried the theme "Evening in Paris." The Juniors supplied the Hilton Hotel Ballroom with a complete French atmosphere. This included a "genuine" Eiffel Tower.

In February the Junior Class presented the play Our Town. Leads were played by Ruth Wilkins, Rick Brunk and Skip McGoun. Mrs. Barbara Dougherty directed the play with the aid of student director Sue Brayford, and set director Cindy Eckman.

The Juniors are looking forward to an even more successful year in '68.



Tom Tano consults Mr. Fabian on Junior Class activities.

This year's Sophomore Class proved to be one of the most industrious classes that Shaler has ever had. Leading the class this year were Jay Jerabek, president; Kathy Snatchko, vice-president; Kathy Toomey, secretary; and Nancy Templer, treasurer. These officers along with the rest of the class made their sophomore year one to remember.

Raising money was on the mind of this year's Sophomore Class, and raise money is exactly what they did! They undertook the traditional magazine drive as their project and soared well over last year's total sales. Their total for this year was $800.00. However, this proved just to be the start of better things in the '66-'67 school year.

Joe Magarack, the steel man, towered over the Sophomore Class as he represented the class in the 1966-67 homecoming parade. Gina Gordon was chosen as their contender for homecoming queen, and she was assisted by Arlene Coleman and Marilyn Peluso. Representing the Industrial Revolution, the float and the Sophomore Class carried out the theme to the fullest extent.

For the sophomores, this year will be remembered as their most important year. Not only did they fit right in with the school from the very beginning but they also proved that they were top competitors with the upper classmen.

The Shaler Huskies fight, fight, fight,

For all the things they feel are right.

Our football team is really
great:

Among the students our boys rate.

At basketball we raise the score,

But our opponents come back for more.

The wrestlers are a real good team,

And we all know they're on the beam.

The track team is alert and fast;

They will never come in last.

Although there are many more,

We have but room for only four.

School Spirit Plays An Important Part In The Games With Rival Teams

Even if Shaler didn't have a winning season, the Huskies never lost their team spirit or left their school spirit behind them. Being smeared by Beaver 40 to 0 in the first game was excusable; Beaver had a tough team. But after the shutout with Shadyside scoring 25 points, Shaler was wondering what it felt like to be on the scoreboard. Yet when we played Churchill, Shalerites were walking around with half-hopes. "I don't know; I just have this feeling." By Friday night it was a reality. The team sent the Churchill Chargers into the moat, 12-0. North Allegheny and Westinghouse Memorial came and went, the former 29-7 and the latter 26-13. Shaler lost both games. However, in the Churchill and Westinghouse Memorial games a record amount of passing was done. Quarterback Rick Kushon threw a couple of exciting long passes that were caught with loving care by right-half Ron (Tuta) Domian.

Shaler's Quick Thinking Pays Off In Victory At North Hills Game

Shaler blockers tear open a path for the carrier, Bill Lynch.

Too late, North Allegheny. Bill's over the goal!

Homecoming, October 2, against North Allegheny was disappointing, but the Huskies made up for it when they wiped North Hills off the field with a 20-6 victory. No season can be called completely "a losing season." This was evidenced when the boys beat North Hills. Confidence gained from the North Hills' defeat enabled the Huskies to make Senior Day the bitter sweet day it's supposed to be. They foxed the Foxes 7-0 in the last game the Seniors played on home soil. The team then traveled to the foreign field of Gateway and lost 27-0. Throughout the season the team was upset by injuries to key players. Gateway seemed to be the disaster area. Tom Ruschhaupt, due to a leg injury, was carried away by an ambulance; Rick Kushon, quarterback, and Bruce Stewart, fullback, were "shook-up" in various plays and were out for part of the game.

Lettermen Boost Cross Country Team To Winning Season

This year's 1966-67 Cross Country team had a very successful year. A majority of lettermen returning from last year proved to be the key factor. Coach David Longwell had predicted a good year. With a record of 11 wins and 4 losses, the prediction came true. Eleven wins proved to be a new record for the number of wins set by a team. A new school record was also set by Dave Senkel and Gary Schaum, the two team captains.

Returning this year with varsity letters were: Erik Meyers, Dave Senkel, Gary Schaum, Rick Jackson, Jim Clark, Dan Mayton, and Hugh Chappell.

Huskies Show Their Skill And Courage In Difficult Test Before Crowds

One may not have thought of basketball as a test, but that is exactly what it is. Each and every time the boys went out onto that gym floor, they were facing a great challenge, a test to prove their worth. The test these boys faced was harder than any that could be imagined. When students thought of a test, they thought of P.O.D., law, or chemistry and shuddered; but they didn't have to take that type of test in front of hundreds of people all keeping their eyes on the energetic teams. Although the season didn't turn out as well as expected, some of our boys showed their skill, not in winning, but in the way they played the game. Through all the difficulties and disappointments of the season, our boys and the whole school never once lost their school spirit and never failed to show good sportsmanship. At times spirit was dimmed, but there was always hope, and that is what kept the school going. The 1967 Shaler Huskies proved themselves worthy to carry the school name wherever they went.

Attendance Shows Firm Support Of Basketball Team

Although the avid Shaler students who loyally supported the 1966-67 basketball team might have been a little disappointed in the season's record, they did not give up hope. This attitude was shown in their faithful attendance which never slacked. With anticipation the students turned out in great numbers to one of the biggest rival games — North Hills. Even though the Huskies lost this important game, the spectator's enthusiasm seldom dimmed. As one left the game, voices could be heard saying, "Just wait until next year!"

Schmitt and O'Connell Take Sections

"The will to win is more important than winning." This idea was expressed by Head Coach Robert Siar concerning the wrestling squad. This year's wrestlers squad did have the will to win — and won. The Junior Varsity team, coached by Donald Matz and led by Jerry Tripoli, had a very good season. These boys wrestled hard in order to earn a place on the Varsity.

As a whole the Varsity, led by captains Dave Schmitt and Dan Zimmerman, had a very successful season. Individuals also earned high places for themselves. Of six Shaler wrestlers who wrestled in sectional finals at Fox Chapel, two won in their own weight classes. These boys, Bob O'Connell, a Junior, and Dave Schmitt, a Senior, earned recognition not only for Shaler but also for themselves.

In an Awards Assembly in April, which climaxed the season, twelve wrestlers were awarded Varsity letters. At this time Dave Schmitt, acting in behalf of all the wrestlers and both coaches, presented an award to Mr. Ford for all his wrestling help throughout his years at Shaler.

Most valuable player, Dennis Lutz, receives congratulations from Rifle Coach Fabian.

By encouraging weekly practices, team spirit, and team work Mr. James Fabian again led the team to a victorious season. With a record of six wins and two losses, the team took the section championship. Aside from this, the team also took second place in the Regional Competition. This year's varsity members were: Mikki Gross, Carol Giest, Carol Wilhelm, Kathy McMillan, Kathy Cushman, Dennis Lutz, Bill Kapphan, Lyle Lucas, Jim Gaus, Dane Wagner, Hugh Chappell, Dan Mayton, Dave Simpson, and Rick Bosiljevac.

Among the national teams in this contest, the girls' team captured second place in the all-over contest, and the regular team of both boys and girls copped third place in the postal matches. Dennis Lutz, a three-year member of the team, was honored by the award recognizing his shooting skill as the most valuable player of the team.

The 1966 Shaler Track Team left its mark on school records across Western Pennsylvania last year. Although the season was a 6-3 one, and not as good as the two previous seasons, the team excelled in record setting. Carlos Reisen, a 1966 graduate, was the '66 W.P.I.A.L. low hurdles champion with a record of 19.3. The 880 relay team, consisting of Tim Dreier, Dave Wilson, Rand Smucker, and Carlos Reisen, set records in the West Penn Conference, Mt. Lebanon Invitational, and Allegheny County Meet. Tim, Dave, and Carlos were all graduated last year but Rand is still in Shaler for the '67 and '68 track seasons.

There were approximately 60 boys on the '67 team, with ten returning lettermen. Running were Ralston and Wolff in the two-mile; Schaum, Senkel, and Clark in the mile; Schaum, Senkel, and Jackson in the half-mile; Senkel, Hrhea, and Bishop in the quarter-mile. Sprinters were DeSimone, Hrhea, Morgan, Brazen, and Smucker. Running the hurdles were Quinn, Yagish, and Bingham; and vaulting the poles were Shepherd, Snyder, and Hannigan. Other varsity events include discus: Stewart, Simon, Goyak, and Brown; shot: Bashaw, Brown, and Goyak; hop, step, and jump: Jerabek, Mayton, Ehrhart; and javelin: Bashaw, Wilson, and Meyers.

Ten Lettermen Return To Lead The 1967 Track Team On To Victory

1967 Golf Team Loses Key Player And Has No Returning Lettermen

Shaler's 1967 golf team finished third in the section. Although the team was hampered by the loss of a key player, Paul Vida, at the start of the year, the team went on to a fair season and entered one player in the regionals.

There were no lettermen returning to make up this year's team. Four boys did return from last year's team with hopes being fulfilled of earning a letter this season. Scott Irwin was voted the most valuable player and was awarded a trophy.

The golf team has a very casual practice schedule. The team holds try-outs, plays several practice rounds, and jumps right into the season. The 1967 team played their home games at Wildwood Country Club although they practiced most frequently on the North Park course. The lack of a home course may have taken the edge off our boys' game and is a condition due to be remedied next season. As Mr. Halechko told the students at the award assembly: "Have a good summer playing golf, and then come out for the team in September."

Sophomore Scott Irwin has a bright future in the "Golfers' World." This year, aside from helping the team to gain its three wins, he made the first cut in qualifying for the Butler Regionals, held in May. Out of the twelve possible openings he placed seventh. Scott enjoys the game, and he averages under 80.

Mr. Andrew Halechko, who is the team's able coach, feels that Scott will be a great asset to the team in his next two years at Shaler. He was the first sophomore to gain the title of "Most Valuable Player" in the past few years.

Five Senior Lettermen Provide The Nucleus For Shaler's '67 Huskie Nine

The 1967 Baseball Team is composed of: Front Row: Martin, Weiher, Lynch, Sutter; Row 2: Pusateri, Matz, Kushon, and Gavlick.

Led by five returning lettermen, the Shaler High School 1967 baseball team had a fair opening season. The team, coached by Mr. Frank Ribich and headed by returning lettermen Alfred Gavlick, Richard Kushon, William Lynch, Dennis Matz, and Kenneth Weiher, started practicing in early March for the season which opened in early April this year.

The seniors made up the backbone of the team, and the juniors filled in the remaining positions. Juniors gaining valuable experience were Dale Russell, Jeff Thomas, Jim Vogel, Skip Martin, Gary Kaufmann, and Joe Pusateri; also seeing action was a sophomore, Kevin McGarry.

On the hill for Shaler were top pitchers William Lynch and Alfred Gavlich. Their pitching was supplemented by leading hitter, Dennis Matz, who led the team with a two runs-per-game average. Even though poor weather rained out several of the games, the Huskies still looked in top-notch shape in their brand new game uniforms. The team as a whole worked hard and never lost spirit although the won-lost record in the section 7 tournament of the WPIAL found the Huskies with a 3-3 record toward the end of the season.

1967 Marks The Beginning Of The Shaler Girls' Varsity Basketball Team

Hoopsters know that drilling must precede winning.

The morning announcements of the past year often resembled roll call at an aviary. However, they were only announcements of upcoming GAA games. The similarity resulted from the names of various birds being used to identify the different teams. Our 1967 Girls' Athletic Association offered a fine opportunity for sophomore, junior, and senior girls to develop their skills and to engage in friendly competition. Diane Domyslawski and Mary Ann Henninger, the two senior girls in charge of G.A.A., really had their hands full, but they did a fine job of scheduling. The year ran smoothly. Approximately 300 games were played by a total of 30 teams with an average of 9 girls on a team. The year was divided into the three seasonal sports of volleyball, shuffleboard, and basketball. The best team in each of these sports had its members' names inscribed on a large trophy, and each member of that team received a smaller trophy.

School Board Expands and Improves the Shaler Township School System

"Expansion" is the center of attention of the Shaler School Board members. An addition to Rogers Elementary School was started in October, 1966; an addition to the Junior High School will begin in June, 1967. Additions and alterations on our Senior High School physical education and athletic facility will also begin in June, 1967. Besides adding on to the present schools, the board is planning an elementary school on Marzolf Road, which, if everything goes according to the schedule, should have the ground broken by the fall of 1967. Other sites for more elementary schools are being sought.

As in all school districts, Shaler had a teacher shortage. Our enrollment is growing each year, and teachers are getting scarce. Although confronted with this major problem and many smaller problems, our Shaler School Board is striving to make Shaler a better, larger school district.

Each member devotes a great amount of his time to the school board. Besides being chairman of a committee, each member is also on two other committees. This means he must attend frequent committee meetings, in addition to the regular meetings, which are held on the third Tuesday of each month. At these meetings the school board makes such important decisions as when to begin the school year, how much to spend on school equipment, and where to build new schools. Many students never realize the big job and responsibilities that go along with being a member of the school board. Without this group of seven industrious people, our school would not be as great as it is, nor would our school life be as smooth.

Mr. Samuel Boyer took over the supervision of the secondary schools this year during Mr. Hench's absence.

Sharing Mr. Hench's responsibilities with Mr. Boyer, Dr. Vaughn Campbell was in charge of the elementary schools of the township.

Mr. Hench, Supervising Principal, Studies on Sabbatical During 1966-1967 School Year

Mr. Harold Hench, our supervising principal, was on a sabbatical leave this year, and will return again to resume his duties on September 1, 1967.

Now working toward his doctorate at Ohio University in Athens, Ohio, Mr. Hench's thesis is based on the subject of the history and development of the junior high school in Pennsylvania.

The supervising principal, Mr. Hench, was on a sabbatical leave this year while studying at Ohio University, Athens, Ohio.

Administration Makes Improvements On Old Building And Athletic Field

According to Mr. Shepley, the main problem at Shaler High School this year was and is the rebuilding of the athletic field. The architects are trying to do everything on a small piece of land. Because of this Shaler may not have any home games next football season. Another major undertaking was the improvement of the old part of the building. New furniture was added, and furniture that has been there for 25 years, since 1932, has been removed.

Twenty-five per cent of the students and teachers were new to the building this year. Mr. Shepley feels that they all have done a remarkable job of fitting into our routine and way of doing things at Shaler.

Mr. Sanderson, our assistant principal liked to feel that his job was more guidance than discipline. He feels he has helped more people by guiding them than by punishing them and that this method created better relations between the staff and students.

Mr. John A. Shepley, Principal of Shaler High School, has worked faithfully for seven years to maintain and improve the quality of the school.

Mr. Shepley dictates important school matters to Linda Murray, a Shaler graduate.

Shaler's 1967 secretarial staff is: Linda Murray, Mary Ann Quigley, Marilyn Klein, and Mary Jo Spagnoletti.

With fond memories, Mr. Sanderson, the assistant principal, looks back on this year.

Together, Mr. Wyeth, Athletics Director, and Mr. Dixon, Activities Director, plan the year's extracurricular schedule.

Counselors Assist College Bound Seniors

Shaler's guidance department performs various tasks that are often taken for granted by the student body. Their purpose is helping in selecting colleges, notifying the students when job opportunities occur, and the overall scheduling of classes for the following year. One of the most important purposes of Shaler's guidance department is the offering and administering of scholarships and scholarship tests.

Shakespeare Stymies Shaler Students

Senior academic English concentrated on the appreciation of England's literature and college preparatory grammar, while the twelfth grade commercial English course concentrated on grammar for office use including business letters, spelling and vocabulary, oral communication, and resumés. Tenth grade curriculum continued the study of Julius Caesar. Eleventh grade curriculum was basically the same as in previous years with additional study of the Shakespearean play, A Midsummer Night's Dream. Juniors were also taught analogies and syllogisms to help in taking the Scholastic Aptitude Tests. Advanced literature, composition, and speech, three elective courses, each sought fresh and modern approaches to further development of the communicative skills.

Reading Clinic Helps Problems Readers

Under the direction of Mr. Thomas Kelly a developmental reading clinic for secondary school students was established at the high school. The clinic was made possible by a federal government grant to Shaler Township Schools. Personnel in the clinic sought to locate and diagnose the student with reading difficulties and help the student achieve his potential reading level. Once the problem reader was diagnosed, a program of instruction was formulated to meet the needs of the individual. Such devices as the tachistoscope, skimmer and scanner, slide projector, and a wealth of multi-level reading material were used in the clinic. Through the use of this equipment the students taking an active part in the program have been able to raise their reading level and usually have brought their class work up to the expected level for the student's grade.

Psych Classes "Psych Out" Students

Mr. Dixon and Mr. Heinricher led this year's psychology department on to "super" discoveries of human psych. Mr. Heinricher's classes became "very, very, very" enlightened about behaviorism; this, according to Mr. Dixon's theory, would be enough to "gag a maggot." Surveys of student feelings concerning such current controversial issues as morals, draft laws, and Vietnam were conducted and the results evaluated by the classes. The way we "figger it," all students appreciate the efforts of both men.

Social studies at Shaler included our psychology, United States history, political science, and world cultures. This wide program of study was intended to give the students an understanding of the world around them. The courses involved five explanations for what happened in the past, and where, how, and when it happened. Learning how people think in the elective psychology course helps explain why men have acted as they have throughout history. From studying the consequences of these actions in political science and economics, we have learned to become better citizens of our world.

This year was the second year that Shaler taught the Biological Science Curriculum Study. This type of biology was lab orientated, which meant that there was less lecture and more lab, with the teacher serving as a guide. One possible reason for the great success of this course was that the laboratories had been supplied with the essential equipment and were well organized. Mr. Duerr and Mr. Hutter taught this course to the college preparatory sophomores.

The commercial and general sophomores gained a wide and varied outlook on biology. They discussed the plant and animal kingdoms with the help of reports, laboratory sessions and audio-visual aides. Great emphasis was placed on the practical application of their learning to their everyday lives.

Science Students Spend More Time in Lab

This year the Chemistry Department changed completely to Chem Study. In this type of chemistry the students spend more time in the laboratory. Many of the students have remarked that this chemistry is easier to comprehend than the type of chemistry that was taught in previous years. In Advanced Chemistry the students this year demonstrated their understanding of laws, chemicals, and principles by undertaking a project through which they showed the practical application of all three.

The PSSC Physics was lab orientated like the Chem Study. In this type of physics the students experienced the physical laws directly in the laboratory. Although this course covered fewer physical principles than the traditional physics course, PSSC Physics covered those principles in depth.

"Math is logic and doesn't change much," sighed Mr. Dodds, Senior Math and Algebra II teacher. Mr. Ford, head of the Math Department and assistant wrestling coach, predicts that all courses are heading for modernization but math will get there first at Shaler. Modern math is being taught in two classes and next year it will be taught in all math classes.

Calculus anyone? Miss Otto seems to be doing a little more in her classes this year. Math Analysis and Trigonometry are her specialties. Giving a little more is Mr. Crawford's philosophy. By gearing his Trigonometry classes to fit in with the Physics department he feels as though students will benefit most. Miss Giles, a student teacher from Penn State, taught Mr. Yankovich's shop math and traditional algebra classes for nine weeks. Mr. Yankovich doesn't think that modern math is going to catch on easily, but he is in favor of adopting the program.

The academic student would probably pursue those courses designed to provide him with a background for his college years — Geometry, Algebra, or even Math Analysis. Thus, Shaler's math program has been designed to supply the mathematical needs of every type of student.

Once again Penn State sent a student teacher to Shaler. Miss Suits undertook the responsibility of supervising Mrs. Wagner's secretarial classes. Miss Suits placed emphasis on the individual as a person. Her main objective was improving secretarial skills, but she also attempted to develop each student's personality. Job interviewing and grooming were a few additional subjects that Miss Suits discussed in the commercial classes. She hoped that this would enable seniors to secure more beneficial jobs in all areas of business.

As in previous years, all secretarial students were assigned teachers for whom they did various work. This experience was aimed toward developing dependability and responsibility in each student. In addition, it gave the girls first-hand experience at duties they will some day be required to perform.

Mr. Halechko checks Marie Gerstner's paper as Veronica Bialozor looks on.

Secretarial, bookkeeping, and clerical courses comprised the Commercial Department at Shaler. These specialized courses enabled Shaler graduates to enter the business world directly after completing the required courses of study.

New electric typewriters and desks added a touch of excitement to the secretarial field. This equipment has enabled students in the secretarial course to average 110 words a minute in shorthand and 55 words a minute in typing.

Two years of actual bookkeeping make up the bookkeeping field. In addition to bookkeeping, law and sales, mathematics, and consumer education were offered to commercial students.

In the clerical course students mastered accuracy and speed by operating numerous types of machines. This year office practice classes were introduced to two new adding machines and two IBM Selectric typewriters. In conjunction with machines, courses in filing and automation were available as part of a clerical student's curriculum.

Senior girls learn the fundamentals of machines during office practice.

Typing takes on a special meaning for those girls going into a secretarial career.

This year the language teachers spent more time working with the students in improving their vocabulary, grammar, and conversation. Visual aids, records, tapes, and audio devices were found to be very helpful in training the students for this type of work. Each teacher felt that speaking a language was becoming more important, and they encouraged this by having the students give speeches on various subjects. All the teachers agreed that the students gained valuable knowledge which they will be able to use.

This year the Spanish classes spent more time on grammar and conversation. In Mrs. Obenauf's classes this was done by having the students give their own original stories in Spanish. This proved to be enjoyable as well as profitable. Sight reading also proved to be very helpful in understanding the language. Miss Smolkovich, with the help of her student teacher, Miss Livingstone, encouraged the students to converse more. She felt that conversation was the most important part of a language. She found filmstrips and visual aids to be very helpful.

In the French classes, Mrs. Mercer used tapes more than she ever had. She felt that the audio tapes in the library were very valuable. She encouraged her classes to use them whenever they had time. Again, conversation proved to be very important. Mrs. Mercer had her students give reports on various French topics. In Advanced French, the speeches were on French life. All felt that they gained valuable experience for college. In Mrs. Mayher's classes, the main stress was on grammatical construction. For this, she found tapes and records to be very helpful. Also, she found that the students enjoyed reading French magazines, and she therefore encouraged them to do so.

In the German classes, Mrs. Skendall encouraged grammatical construction as well as good conversation. She found all forms of aids to be very helpful. She encouraged the use of the audio devices in the library. She felt that these devices helped improve the conversation of the student as well as his ability to understand the language.

Mr. William Baker again took charge of the Audio-visual Department. It was Mr. Baker's job to see that the classrooms were equipped with the necessary machines. This year, the audio-visual was used more than ever before. Language, history, and science teachers found the audio-visual equipment invaluable.

This year more films were ordered from the Allegheny County Schools than ever before. Purchases almost doubled over the amount which was ordered last year. Also used this year were the library audio aids which were of great value to the language students of the school.

Audio-Video Gains New Equipment

"Do you hear what I hear?"

Mrs. Baker gets out a record for a student who wishes to improve his studies.

New equipment arrives weekly and the latest addition to the department is a 3M Infareol Copier which makes transparencies for the overhead projector. This copier is used mostly by the science and social studies departments. This year Shaler contributes to the Regional Instrumental Center which serves all Allegheny County and in return the center lends Shaler films. Over three hundred films were ordered mainly by the science and social studies teachers to supplement their courses. Departments ranging from Driver's Education to Home Economics stated that they were well pleased by the Dukane projector which shows the film and plays the record automatically.

Many new records came to Shaler this year such as "Dr. Zhivago," "Hamlet" and other Shakespeare plays, and a collection of poetry by Dylan Thomas. Mrs. Baker stressed that these aids are available for all students. A foreign language student may supplement his study through the use of the language records and tapes or a business student can improve his skills by using the dictation records.

Senior boys who helped with the visual-aids are Schwartz, Lynch, Schmitt, Kushon, McRoberts, Domian, Hacker, Ross, Harrigan.

Health Classes Round Out The

The Health and Physical Education Department concentrated on getting the most health and physical fitness they could in 3 periods of health and 2 periods of gym per week.

The gym classes this year included the usual activities such as the inevitable push-ups and sit-ups. However, they also included bright spots in the day such as archery and tennis. Boys climbed ropes and girls attempted it. As always, the tramp highlighted the students' season in the gymnasium.

Senior Health classes plowed through the teeth, nerves, mind, and muscles again this year. They studied charts and film strips as well as Ezmeralda, the removable woman. The last quarter, the classes studied first-aid — what to do in time of fallout. The girls' classes sampled emergency biscuits from the fallout shelter. They had been packed in 1962.

The year concludes with a more fit and more mentally sound student body.

This year's physical education classes and senior health classes took on several different tasks this year. In the girls' gym classes, they practiced floor exercises to music, and participated in a physical fitness program approved by the President's Council on Physical Fitness which is now used nationwide. Each student's average was compared to Shaler's average and the national average.

In Mr. Martin and Mr. Brautigam's gym classes, the boys stressed coordination. Emphasis was also put on weight training and fitness and conditioning.

New balance beams, paralleled bars, and floor mats were added to the equipment.

In the health classes, students were taught the systems and organs of the body and also about the mentally ill and what is being done for them.

Under the direction of Mrs. Slais, a girls basketball team was organized. The Shaler Hoopsters participated in the Fox Chapel Invitational Tournament.

A one semester sewing class was opened for girls of all abilities. The girls made clothes for their own needs. The advanced sewing class was required to make specific projects. These projects included something for a child, a man, and the home; the girls also made Christmas gifts and Easter outfits and prom gowns.

Practical Knowledge Of Crafts And Skills Learned By Industrial Art Students

If one had walked past the industrial arts classes any time during the day, one would have heard the sounds of boys hard at work on their projects. The industrial arts program was composed of three classes: wood shop, metal shop, and mechanical drawing. These classes were elected by boys in grades 10 through 12 who wished to gain a practical knowledge of a craft and also to develop skills which might prove valuable later in life. All three industrial arts classes offered advanced second and third year classes for those students who desired to take them.

Creativity Guides Future Artists Working On Their Projects

With all the projects this year, both art teachers were kept busy. One of the first undertakings of the art department were the decorations for Christmas. Colorful mobile trees hung from the lights in both cafeterias. Several new ideas were also begun this year. In the crafts classes, budding artists had a chance to "throw a pot" — to make use of a potter's wheel in making a pot. On the walls of the second floor hall, a changing art exhibit was displayed. It was composed of work from all art classes as well as from design and crafts. This was an attempt to show the non-art students what the art department was doing.

A variety of sacred, secular, serious, and light choral works were studied by each choir. Mrs. Maxwell, choral director, worked to give the singers meaning for their music not only through interpretation, but also by explaining the origin of most of the music.

Shaler's band also studied a variety of music including Bach's "Prelude and Fugue," many rousing marches, and orchestral arrangements of such modern popular songs as "Born Free." Highlighted by the Fifth Annual Invitational Band Concert and the Spring Band Concert, the band had quite a full year.

The Wellingtons Demonstrate Jazz For Music Appreciation Class

During second period Monday and Tuesday music appreciation class was held. Altogether only about thirty-five students took the course, these students were exposed to various kinds of music to broaden their musical experience and to learn to enjoy and interpret music. Because there was such a diversified body of students involved in the course, reports were assigned on a voluntary basis permitting each student to choose a musical topic which interested him enough for further study. The jazz report was highlighted when The Wellingtons, a modern jazz group, gave a live presentation for the Monday class.

During this year, the first year the course was offered, its teachers sought to give the students a basic understanding of all styles and all periods. Both Mrs. Gunst and Miss Corvino hoped that the course will be expanded.

Mr. Brodie explains the intricate detail of Modern Art.

Mr. Brodie helps his class to appreciate the beauty in art.

Miss Corvino shows the class that there are other kinds of music besides rock 'n roll.

Added to this year's curriculum was Art Appreciation. Through the study of art history, the students attempted to relate the historical background to contemporary art. "I think there is a definite lack of appreciation in art today," said Mr. Brodie. "This course gives students a better understanding of what the artist is trying to do." Among the materials used in the class were filmstrips and reproductions of famous works of art.

Sharon Hodgkiss tells the Music Appreciation class about the history of jazz in America while Larry Wagner starts a jazz record.

Three Hundred Safe Drivers Are Now In Shaler Since

Bruce shows Mr. Fitch how to start the car.

Ferris Fitch
Driver Education.

John Szalinski
Driver Education.

Driver Education classes were able to expand to nearly double their previous size with the addition of Mr. Fitch to the faculty. Formerly Mr. Fitch taught wood shop at the Junior High. Last year he attended classes in driver safety at Slippery Rock College in order to gain enough credits to teach Driver Education.

Together Mr. Szalinski and Mr. Fitch teach approximately three hundred students which is accomplished in ten and a half months, including the summer classes which meet in the mornings during July.

Mr. Szalinski's winter class of 1966-67 undertook an extensive research project. Students visited the township's police and road departments, collecting statistics on such things as traffic violations, traffic flow, and police patrol duties This information was combined into a booklet which was distributed in churches of all denominations in the township.

This year, as a result of the efforts of Mr. Fitch and Mr. Szalinski, there are an additional three hundred safe drivers in the township. This increase shows that many students are beginning to realize the importance of safe driving. Through our Driver Education classes these interested students have experience at the wheel. With the assistance of Mr. Szalinski and Mr. Finch, Shaler students have had an avenue of learning opened to them.

Careful Supervision Turns Out Better Drivers

One word could have summarized the activity in the library for 1966 — expansion. It was not the knocking out of walls or building of rooms, but it was the steady addition of books and shelves that keeps a library complete and up-to-date. An increase in government subsidies was of great assistance in furthering the gradual growth of the library. This was a great advantage to the student body who were called upon to do more and more reference work than ever before.

In charge of the library's operation and contents were head librarian Miss Emrick and her assistant, Mrs. Baker. At present the library contains 10,000 books, countless magazines, and a variety of tapes, and filmstrips. It was frequented by approximately 275 students daily who withdrew an average of 500 books a week. These figures were a slight indication of the invaluable services the library afforded the student body.

It seems that Mrs. Rittman was a jack-of-all-trades who took care of everything from boiling carrots for a lab class to ministering to accident victims. She had to keep records on all insurance cases, including minor accidents, emotional and physical disabilities. Each year her job includes assisting Dr. Homer Wallace in giving physical exams to all juniors and taking height and weight for all students.

Dr. Wallace was always on call in case any emergency arose that Mrs. Rittman felt was too serious to be handled in her office.

Students Appreciate Varied Services

Do you realize the working force it takes each day to gather bits of paper carelessly dropped by some thirteen hundred students? Are the lunches you buy one of the many school facilities you take for granted? Are you one of the six thousand students who use the transportation provided for by the township? Chances are you never even thought about it; therefore, we take this space to commend the many school employees who make life a little more pleasant at Shaler. We pay tribute to the 15 janitors and maintenance men and women who keep our school neat and well regulated; to the cafeteria workers who serve over ten thousand hot lunches each month; and to our ever smiling bus drivers, who travel approximately 1,050 miles per day transporting us.

Student Council Sponsors Shaler's First Computor Dance To Add Variety

"The meeting will now come to order" was the cry of Student Council president Craig Christman as he opened a typical meeting. The Council, composed of representatives from all homerooms and clubs, not only sponsored the "cake baking contest" on Dress Up Day but also the "Victory Dances" after all home football and basketball games.

In addition to all the traditional activities, the 1966-67 Student Council held a computer dance in March. Students who were interested filled out questionnaires about themselves and were matched up with three or four other students by means of a computer. Since the dance had such a good turnout, perhaps it too will become traditional among Shaler's activities.

The officers of the 1967 Student Council opened this year's first meeting with new ideas for school improvement. The first item on the agenda was to reorganize the council. This reorganization was accomplished through the organization of the Service Club and through election of Homeroom Representative twice yearly.

The voices of the Announcing Staff rang out loud and clear each morning during homeroom period to bring the latest announcements to the students. Made up of students from all three grades, the staff acquainted the students and teachers with the important events of the day at Shaler.

The purpose of the Shaler Trading Post was to supply the students with necessities for the school year. Operated by Junior and Senior girls, the Trading Post sold such items as: notebooks, paper, stationery, sweatshirts, pennants, Shaler license plates, and many other items.

During every period the information girls assisted the office personnel in such duties as the distribution of absentee sheets and messages. These girls worked with the office to create a smooth running school.

Each of these organizations worked together to improve the school and its atmosphere.

The 1966-67 Shaler Majorette Squad was led by Jane Szymanski. These eleven girls practiced throughout the summer to prepare for the halftime football shows. Every day during the seventh period they created new routines which featured many original formations. This year's routines included many popular hits, such as, "The Spanish Flea," and television themes, like "The Dick Van Dyke Show" and "Gilligan's Island." At the pep assemblies the majorettes worked with the cheerleaders and with the band to rally school spirit. In the spring the girls participated in majorette clinics and parades. Hard work and patience paid off in what all the girls called "a very successful year."

"One, two, three, four . . ." the band is lining up at the fifty-yard line, sharp and snappy in their bright blue-and-silver uniforms. Then onto the field, falling easily into formation after formation . . .

Easy? It's an ease that came after a lot of hard work for the 1967 Marching Band. It started with two weeks of band camp in August; sometimes it was wild, with the initiates giggling nervously behind overgrown name tags, but more often it involved hot, boring drills. Once school began, the band spent seventh period each day drilling and practicing — repeating music they thought they already knew and playing until the trombonists had red rings around their mouths and the clarinetists had numb fingers.

"One, two, three, four!" Plumed heads come up, students snap to attention and raise their instruments to play . . . the band is marching off the field.

Baccalaureate Marks The Final Performances Of Chapel Choir Seniors

Approximately 175 select voices comprise Shaler's three choirs. Together the choirs worked hard to put on three assemblies, the Christmas concert, the annual Spring concert, and the G. Raymond Bell Memorial Scholarship Concert. As the curtain opened at the Thanksgiving assembly, the Chapel Choir started the first full season in their new vibrant red robes. The Chapel Choir was in several special programs including a visit to the Glenshaw Presbyterian Church at Christmas time and a benefit performance with The Caravan of Cheer on April 14, 1967. Chapel Choir closed the 1966-67 season in its final performance at Baccalaureate.

National Honor Society Taps Sixty-Two Students Into Membership

National Honor Society served more as an honor club than a working group. With the election of officers for the 1966-1967 year, ideas were presented in an effort to improve the working of the club. Both the members and the sponsor became so involved in their school life that their plans were forgotten.

The society worked this year to recognize those outstanding students who obtained a B average or better in their studies. The members had to possess scholarship, leadership, service, and personal character. The students' leadership was shown by the various activities in which they participated through their years at Shaler. Service to their school and community greatly aided the members in attaining a broader knowledge of the workings of a government in action. The members were required to attain high standards and set a good example to those around them as part of their personal character. By maintaining their high grades, students showed that they knew how important education is for future study and occupations.

El Cid Promotes Study Of Spanish

Tom, Steve and Eric make reservations with secretary Sue Lockmeyer for the Spanish banquet.

"To foster the study of Spanish at Shaler" was the goal of this year's "El Cid" chapter of the Spanish National Honor Society. For Columbus Day each student was adorned with a sign proclaiming "El Dia de Colón." Initiation was held at the end of November at which time forty outstanding Spanish students were presented certificates of membership by Mr. Shepley. A combined meeting with the Spanish and French clubs provided the festive Christmas atmosphere. In January the Club was pleased to have an exchange student speak about her native country of Colombia. On April 14, Pan American Day, an announcement was made concerning the origin and purpose of the Pan American Union. The club ended its successful year with a banquet in May. Their goal of making Shaler students aware of Spanish was well met throughout the year.

The Senior Commercial Club sponsored by Mrs. Wagner and Mrs. Heberle opened this school year by taking a field trip to the "Business Machines Show" at the Hilton Hotel. Later in the year a guest speaker, Miss Harper from Duff's Business School, spoke to the club at one of their monthly meetings on interviewing and grooming. She gave the girls many timely and helpful hints which they could put into practice when placing applications for permanent employment.

As in previous years, the club sponsored a bake sale to provide money for shorthand and typing awards. The remaining money was used by the club to hold their annual dinner at the close of the year.

The 1966 Junior Commercial Club sponsored by Miss Joan Bauer and Mrs. Carol Sawyer enjoyed a very successful and active year. The club took a field trip to IBM where they viewed the offices and the new IBM equipment. This helped the girls to get a better insight into the business world. A guest speaker, Mr. Murray from Grace Martin's School, was invited to speak at a monthly meeting and to demonstrate the use of the stenograph machine. The club members also held a bake sale, the profits of which were used for a picnic planned by the Junior Commercial Club and given in honor of the Seniors.

Spanish Club Sponsors Pinata Contest To Benefit Children's Hospital

Spanish Club had an active social year under Mrs. Anne Obenauf, the club sponsor. Fiestas were held to celebrate Halloween, Christmas, and Valentine Day. Christmas was celebrated by a combined party of Spanish, Spanish Honor, and French Club members. During December, the club sponsored a pinata contest. One pinata was saved for the Christmas party, and the others were sent to Children's Hospital. Spanish Honor and French Club were the guests of Spanish Club at its March meeting and were entertained by the Riggio Family and Mrs. Obenauf, who presented slides of Spain and Mexico.

Banquet Highlights French Club's Year

This year members of Mrs. Mercer's French Club got acquainted with the various customs of native Frenchmen. While French I and II students enjoyed exchanging Christmas carols with the Spanish students at their joint Christmas party, French delicacies were sampled. The profits of the bake sale which was held early in February were used for the annual Spring Banquet at which France's historical background came to life through the presentation of filmstrips. Annually the club awards a French dictionary to the senior with the highest average in French who plans to continue studying the language in college.

Shaler's newly organized Science Club took on many projects this year. Attending lectures twice weekly at Pitt, Mt. Mercy, Duquesne, and Carnegie Tech, the members acquired a better understanding of chemistry, physics, biology, and mathematics. Every Tuesday the cry of "checkmate" could have been heard issuing forth from the Conference Room. The 1967 Chess Club was hard at work on practice matches. The club, sponsored by Mr. John McDonough and belonging to the Pittsburgh Chess Club, had a lightly scheduled but interesting year. The club's 17 members played matches with Central Catholic, Churchill Valley, and North Catholic; although their match scores were not too favorable, the students gained valuable experience. The members of the Chess Club looked forward with high hopes to the challenge that next year's matches would present.

Mr. McDonough informs club officers of coming matches.

A campaign to promote the knowledge and understanding of chess was a major job of the newly formed chess club. The club feels that if more people understood the game this would better their team and provide enjoyment for more people.

Mr. Snyder, Mr. McDonough, and Cynthia agree that even practice matches are exciting.

Art Club Works To Encourage Skill And Creativity In Its Members

The Art Club began its year with a club picnic at North Park, in which new members were introduced to the agenda. The club was planning for 1966-67.

Club members finished their float, "The Spirit of St. Louis," in time for homecoming, coping a place as finalists with a colorful model of Charles Lindburg's famous airplane.

Service formed a big part of their schedule, too. Art club made their services available to any school organization who needed posters, and they assisted on publicity for the Caravan of Cheer and Band functions. The club had other opportunities for artists to try their skill: a field trip to the aviary with the art appreciation classes offered birds and plants as models for sketches and was the highlight of their fall agenda.

The program committee had their hands full — a speaker each month was a big order to fill. One month their speaker was Miss Robinson, who demonstrated silk screen prints and enameling to the members, and on another occasion the club welcomed Dr. Bruce Carter of Carnegie Tech, who discussed with the members the openings available in different art schools and artistic fields.

A bake sale which netted $30.00 enabled the art club to present a scholarship assistance to president Sue Irvin at the end of the year; this fund, although a new measure, was quite successful and will probably be continued as an annual project.

The "Spirit of St. Louis" was the Art Club's entry in Homecoming parade.

Future Nurses Make Seasonal Favors For North Hill's Passavant Hospital

Members of the Future Nurses' Club had a busy year. Aside from learning better health habits and more about both practical and registered nursing, they also did work projects for North Hills Passavant Hospital. The girls, aided by Mrs. Rittman, made and assembled Christmas trees mounted on a wooden base with a mint filled cup. For Easter, the girls made small colorful baskets and filled them with candy mints. Because of the effort and cooperation of the girls, the children at Passavant Hospital had an enjoyable Christmas and Easter. The year ended with the seniors receiving their FNC charms at the Second Annual FNC Banquet.

"But I need the glue," says Laurie Miller as Jeanne Grsetic, Beverly Rimmel, and Carol Schaefer continue to make Easter baskets.

Shaler's Tutors Get Together To Discuss Their Progress and Problems.

Acting as guides for the parents at Open House was the first official duty of Shaler's Future Teachers of America Club this year. The club initiated many new activities for the students this year. One of the most interesting of these was the Manchester Tutorial Program in which non-members of the club were invited to take part in helping slow learners of the Manchester Area. Throughout the year the club visited several workshops including those at Carnegie High School and Duquesne University. Workshops such as these bring together Future Teachers of America members from all over the Pittsburgh area to discuss teaching and club activities. During February members of Shaler's F.T.A. together with eight girls from Mount Alvernia High School visited Indiana University of Pennsylvania for lunch and a tour of the campus.

April, Teaching Career Month, was the busiest time of the year for the club's members. During that month they held a Guess the Teacher Contest; they presented an assembly on education and how it affects the individual; they gave each teacher an apple; and they sponsored a benefit performance by The Caravan of Cheer for Cumberland Hills School. Many of the acts in this performance were taken from the 1967 talent show. Mr. Schweiger, this year's advisor, arranged to have Charlie Appel, a local disc jockey, and The Caravan present the show. He also initiated new activities and ideas for the club which helped make the year both prosperous and interesting.

Scoop Staff Edits Paper Full Of New Ideas

What's in "The Box?" Ten back issues of Scoop? Or maybe the school newspaper's advisor, Mrs. Joanne Power, doing bird calls? "The Box" was a zany idea contest editor Debby France and the staff thought up while at the same time studying basic facts and history of journalism. Regular features like "Suzy Snooper" and "Soundoff" were continued, but the sixty-six—sixty-seven staff created "Get To Know Your Seniors" and "Sir Giles Townsend, Esquire and his Column of the Stars." Scoop reporters covered the big stories of the year such as proms, Talent Show, and the Computer Dance. The journalism class put out a final edition filled with senior faces, facts, and figures as a salute to the class of '67.

Yearbook Staff Produces Bigger Shaleresque In 1967

A group of seventeen girls, all seniors, worked busily through the entire school year to put out this yearbook. Beginning with two meetings in the summer, they put their time and effort into the publication each day during second period. Often they spent a day puzzling over the question of who was the second girl in the first row or who were the boys in the back row. Writing the articles, typing them over several times to get the typing perfect, thinking up captions and identifying pictures were all part of the daily routine. Mrs. Ruth Corda, the sponsor, gave them a helping hand and advice, and she pushed them along when they started to lag. Even though everyone enjoyed working on the yearbook, there was a collective sigh of relief let out as the last page was sent off to the printer. It was a rewarding experience for the girls to see the results of their efforts in print.

Kathy Brenenborg, Sue Lockmeyer, and Barb Anderson combine abilities to meet deadline.

Leaders Active In Variety Of Sports

"Active" would be the one word that could best describe the Shaler Leaders' Club this year. The girls sponsored the King and Queen of football dance. The club members also planned a Christmas party and a Valentine party where the girls honored their mothers. In the spring the sophomore and junior girls that wanted to become members were given a test and those girls with the highest scores were made probationary leaders. They assisted the junior leaders in planning the annual banquet to honor the seniors.

Varsity Club Plaque Displays Names Of Shaler's Most Valuable Players

The goal of this year's Varsity Club, to encourage participation in sports, was met by the money raised through the sale of programs at football games and cokes and candy at home basketball games and wrestling matches. In February the club bought a large plaque which lists each most valuable player in all interscholastic sports at Shaler from 1950 to the present season.

Bowlers Aim For These High Scores

Bang, crash, a strike! This was the sound made by Bowling Club as its team members met weekly to compete against one another. Mount Royal Lanes was the scene of the weekly competition. Mr. Baum, this year's sponsor, helped the team not only improve their scores but also plan the banquet at the end of the year.

Activity Is Function Of Spirited Pep Club

Promoting school spirit is the never-ending job of the newly-formed Shaler Pep Club. Selling shakers was their first major campaign to boost school spirit and help get the club's activities under way.

Pre-game activities mean hard work for the members. Pinning the students with tags and decorating the halls with posters, banners, and signs isn't easy; new ideas are always needed. "Peanuts" was the subject for one of our home games and proved to be a very successful idea as the team brought home a victory.

Attending every home game, one of the clubs strictest rules, plays the biggest part in promoting school spirit. Pep rallies are also attended, and the club has spent many hours working out routines.

Drama Club Travels To Playhouse

This year's Drama Club involved itself with movies, skits, and discussions of drama at its meetings. Members held a bake sale to raise money to help pay the expenses of a trip to the Playhouse where club members saw the Hancock production of Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream. So successful was this trip that Drama Club members decided upon other trips to the Playhouse.

Folk singers entertain the student body.

Guest Singers Entertain Folk Singers

Members of Folk-Singing Club entertained and were entertained at their bimonthly meetings throughout the year. Some entertainment was provided by guest singers from neighboring colleges, but most of it was contributed by the members themselves and their voices. The main aims of the club were to attract new members and to teach those interested to play guitar.

Ski Club Thought Snow, Got Rain

"Think Snow" was the motto of the Shaler Ski Club this year. Over 150 enthusiastic people attended the first meeting. They were then told of the plans to go to one of the nearby ski lodges for a weekend where everyone could learn to ski if they didn't already know how to ski. Although everyone was ready to go, the weatherman refused to cooperate. However, the Ski Club keeps hoping and thinking snow.

Craig Ross took advantage of a rare snowfall to practice his skiing.

"Indispensable," exclaimed Miss Emrick. "A tremendous help," added Mrs. Baker. These are the feelings of our librarians. But just what is indispensable? The Library Aides! Miss Emrick explained that without them they couldn't run the library. These girls have given up their study halls in exchange for writing overdue slips, shelving returned books, assisting at the circulation desk, and running errands. Working hard with little or no recognition isn't easy, but where would we be without them? Shaler students are indeed indebted for the cheerful service these girls gave so willingly.

Where can that book be, wonders Chris Howell.

Karen Kompare prepares a popular book for circulation.

"Neatness is a necessity," says Karen Wentz.

"Indispensable And A Tremendous Help" Indentifies The Library Aides

Front Row: Oginski; Row 2: Wentz, Gertner, Robinson; Row 3: Kompare, Lippert, McCullough, Rigby.

"Indispensable," exclaimed Miss Emrick. "A tremendous help," added Mrs. Baker. These are the feelings of our librarians. But just what is indispensable? The Library Aides! Miss Emrick explained that without them they couldn't run the library. These girls have given up their study halls in exchange for writing overdue slips, shelving returned books, assisting at the circulation desk, and running errands. Working hard with little or no recognition isn't easy, but where would we be without them? Shaler students are indeed indebted for the cheerful service these girls gave so willingly.

Where can that book be, wonders Chris Howell.

Mr. Shepley hands the long-awaited diploma to Co-Saluditorian Margie Keliar as Validictorian Shirley Lukitsch watches.

Although the door has swung shut on our high school years, it is not closed tightly. Through this yearbook we will still be able to peek back through the door and to relive our high school years — the years which formed the foundation for each of our lives.

The Door Closes On Graduation Day.

Sue

To a really nice girl whom I met for the first time this year. Lots of luck in the future especially with the man (Joe). Always remember the fun we had at the pool & don't work too hard.

Susie
One of the neatest
girls I've ever met.
(with a kiss) I'll never forget little things like "Frannie", "Our Town" etc. Best of everything, always
Andy

Susie
One of the sweetest
most expressent girls
in the junior class.
We've had a lot of fun this year and our senior year will be best of all. I hope
our groups stays together.
Best of luck with all those suitors.
